

Nationwide Remote Cardiac Rehab Program Engages With Telehealth/Cardiovascular Community This Week

New York, September 20, 2022 – RecoveryPlus.health, the new nationwide remote patient care platform, is highly visible this week participating in two major telehealth/telemedicine industry events, impacting doctors, nurses, exercise therapists and others engaged in managing care when patients are at home.

RecoveryPlus.health replaces facilities-based rehab programs with state-of-the-art, personalized remote solutions for rehab and prehab (primary prevention) of patients with cardiac, pulmonary and vascular health, long-term COVID, and other medical conditions. The intelligent platform eliminates barriers to critically needed care, empowering patients to accelerate their recovery and improve long-term survival rates while at home.

Telehealth Awareness Week

This is Telehealth Awareness Week, September 18-24, hosted by the American Telemedicine Association (ATA), to showcase the many ways virtual care improves access to quality healthcare services for all individuals, including members of rural and underserved communities. RecoveryPlus.health introduced a new brochure designed for providers of various health services, who would be prescribing remote care programs to their patients, and a testimonial video featuring four RP patients. A report from a recent survey of RP patients will be featured on the TAW blog this week as well. For more information, visit TAW Resources and click on RecoveryPlus.health.

AACVPR

RecoveryPlus.health is also exhibiting at the Annual Meeting in West Palm Beach, FL of the American Association of Cardiovascular and Pulmonary Rehabilitation (AACVPR), a multidisciplinary professional organization comprised of health professionals who serve in the field of cardiac and pulmonary rehabilitation. RP's team including CEO/Co-Founder Peter Niemi and President/Co-Founder Tim Bilbrey is in attendance September 21-23 and will be debuting a new promotional video on Friday, the last day of the Conference.

For more information about RecoveryPlus.health, visit www.RecoveryPlus.health.